What does the future of Adelaide look like?

Friday 14 July 2017

In recent times, there has been a great deal of uncertainty around the question where is Adelaide going and what it will look like?

This uncertainty is justified. Technology is moving faster and faster, seemingly without a limit. Disruption is occurring at every corner, the foundations of our economies are being shifted and there is the looming potential for a disconnected “dystopian” society caused by the very technology assisting us. How will we adapt to this new environment? What will the work environment look like? How will we travel? How will we live?

We asked the simple question

‘Based on your professional & personal experience, what will Adelaide look like in 15 years?’

Premier of South Australia, The Hon Jay Weatherill will provide the key note response.

Our guest speakers will continue the narrative.

- Tania Leiman | Associate Dean Teaching & Learning, Australian Driverless Vehicle Initiative, Flinders University
- Sally Smith | General Manager Planning & Development, Department of Planning, Transport and Infrastructure

Following this, there will be a Q&A session so make sure you have your questions ready!
